

This is what the vendor had to say. 19 Nov 2020 saraho662 What a pleasant experience all round it was selling our home privately through Next Address. Selling your own home for the first time can be a daunting process. Next Address made the process of listing, to selling, to sold a very easy one. Our home sold within a week of being on the market. For $60,000 more than an agent estimated. Plus, we paid no commission. We will certainly be using Next Address if we ever sell another property again. We are already recommending them to our family and friends. Next Address comment This home sold in 6 days for $60,000 more than 2 agents estimates. There were over 15 inspection and 2 buyers. The home was marketed using a virtual tour and great photos. It was advertised on realestate.com.au and nextaddress.com.au. The owners managed the inspections themselves but used a Next Address Property Partner to handle the negotiations. A set fee was paid for this service. The reasons it sold quickly are simple. -It was priced right and the ow...
